The "Dixie Hammer" Lightning Speed.
An O. V. Conductor Hurt—Big Damage Suit Filed—Prohibition Wins in County—Great Fire in Louisville.

"The Dixie Hammer's" Great Record.
The Chicago Herald sent a special fast train to Atlanta Saturday, making the trip of 753 miles from Chicago to Atlanta in 17 hours, one hour and thirty minutes being taken up in "slowing up" in city limits and stopping to deliver papers along the route. The start was made at 2 a. m.
The fleeting transit of the great iron bird was marked for the entire 753 miles with an almost unbroken line of snow-clad country. It seemed a great eagle soaring with rapid and powerful stroke through untainted space.

Through a goodly section of Eastern Illinois into Indiana to Terre Haute it sped over the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad. From Terre Haute past Vincennes, to Evansville with lightning velocity it journeyed over the Evansville & Terre Haute. Terre Haute was reached at 5:50. That was schedule time. So far, so good. From Terre Haute to Vincennes, a distance of 52 miles, it sped in 52 minutes, reaching the latter city at 6:42, having traveled a mile a minute. Evansville was reached at 8:10, five minutes behind schedule time. It left Evansville at 8:15 and passed Henderson twenty minutes later. Nortonville found the hands of the timing watches at 10:04. Crofton was left behind 13 minutes later. Hopkinsville was passed at 10:35, Pembroke at 10:46, Guthrie at 11:05, Baker's at 11:29 and Edgeland Junction at 11:52. From Evansville to Edgeland Junction is 143 miles. The distance had been traversed in three hours and thirty-seven minutes.

From Edgeland Junction to Nashville the Herald's Hammer made the run ten miles in fourteen minutes, and drew up, panting and puffing, in the Union Depot at 12:30.

The run from Nashville to Chattanooga was made by 4:10 and the 138 miles from Chattanooga to Atlanta were covered in 185 minutes, making just 17 hours for the trip, about 12 hours less than the usual time. The run put behind all records in long distance travel and shortened the usual time by ten or twelve hours, enabling the Herald to deliver its papers in Atlanta on the day of publication. The issue was a special edition containing a write-up of the Atlanta Exposition that closed yesterday.

Big Fire in Louisville.

A destructive fire in Louisville burned several Main street houses during the storm Friday night, at a loss of $333,985, nearly all fully insured. The principal losses were J.
M. Robinson, Norton & Co., goods stored, $157,785; Stucky, Brent & Co., $80,000; J. H. Quast & Co., $25,000; Levi Tyler, building, $15,000. The cold was so intense that the firemen were covered with ice and icicles hung from their hats. Several of the men, including Major Hughes, the chief, were disabled from the terrible exposure.

Judge Grace Resigns.

Judge John R. Grace sent in his resignation as circuit Judge last Saturday to take effect to-day. It is announced from Frankfort that his successor will be named by the Governor this week. It is believed that his selection will be one of the following four gentlemen—Chas. H. Bush, of Christian; Thos. J. Cook, of Calloway; T. J. Watkins, of Lyon, and R. A. Burnett of Trigg.

List of Superstitions.

Following is a list of the superstitions appended by Judge Morrow to go over the assessor's books: Ira E.
Edie, Y. J. Meigs, G. W. Lander, M.
D. Davis, Isaac Garrett, B. F. Johnson and D. E. Fowler. The board will meet next Monday and be in session ten days to hear complaints, if any, concerning the assessment of their property.

Pined for Vagrancy.

Bob Trice, col., was tried before Judge Hancock yesterday morning on a charge of vagrancy, and given ten days in the work house.

The Satellite Ball.

The sixth annual ball of the Satellite of Mercury in Louisville Friday night at the Galt House was a big success. There were 700 people present and the Quos, Miss Laura Brad of Louisville, was attended by the following maids of honor: Clara Gilmor, Ella Be, Alletta Chase, Felix Woodson, Bessie Griswold, Bertha Bowen, Lida Swope, Rosa Murray Mildred Anderson, Annie May Boone, Belle Bowhiser, Eliza Ingletton, Nellie Major, of Louisville; Ethel Gist, of New Castle; Alice Tisbee, of Frankfort; Elizabeth Hayes, of Richmond, Va.; Pauline McFarlar, of Shelbyville; Pearl Now, of Danville, Ill.; May Lila Wade of Paducah; Blanche Anno, of York, Pa. Hopkinsville was represented by Miss Paul Mercer and her father Mr. S. C. Mercer.

Conductor Injured.

Saturday evening Conductor Col-meau, of the Ohio Valley road, was considerably injured about the head in a wreck at Morganfield. He was taken to Henderson and was able to walk to his home in that city. The wreck was due to an open switch.
The Uniontown train was lying on the sidetrack at Morganfield when Mr. Colmeau's train came through, and owing to the displacement of the switch ran into it. The conductor was standing at a short distance from a door which was open. The door of the car immediately ahead was also open. Colmeau was thrown by the force of the collision to the middle of the car ahead and badly bruised. No one else was hurt. The damage to the cars was only slight.

Down to 4 Below.

The eight-inch snow of Christmas night and the 26th inst., was followed by the worst blizzard for many seasons. The mercury took a tumble Wednesday night and the cold wave arrived on time Thursday. It continued to get worse and Friday morning the mercury registered 4 degrees below zero, and all day Friday it hovered about the zero point. There was some improvement Saturday and by Sunday it had moderated to somewhere near the freezing point. Better weather is promised this week.

Trigg County West Dry.

The election in Trigg county Saturday resulted in a victory for the dry side. Details have not been received but the majority for prohibition was at least 200. There are three liquor dealers, however, in the county, whose licenses do not expire for nearly a year.

Will Boyd Surrender.

Willie Boyd, who stabbed Clarence McElroy at Kelly last week, came in to the city Saturday and surrendered to the authorities. Judge Morrow placed him under a $100 bond for his appearance next Saturday, when his examining trial will be held. Boyd furnished his bond and was released.

Sued For $20,000 Damages.

A heavy damage suit for breach of promise of marriage has been brought against Barrett E. McKnight, of Colton, by George Bowles, father and next friend of Miss Boales, the young lady in the case. The suit is for $20,000 and will come up at the circuit court. James Breathitt and W.
S. Withers represent the plainiff.

To Qualify Jan. 7th.

All of the county officers will be sworn into office next Monday for a term of three years.

A Woman's Way.

A woman's most cherished method of getting her own way is to let a man suppose he is having his own way, and marks a knowing writer in an exchange. If she sees a heart on a thing she seldom suggests it. O, dear, no! She suggests a garment is goodly, stately, till the man takes up the endless in his behalf. She says what a horrid cold night it would be to turn out for the theater, when she is dying to go, and that suggests to him that she thinks it would be unwise. On like she wants a quiet evening at home to be reading a book and she suggests a dinner of cold meat, and he says he is in a breath, till he cogitatively says he won't go anywhere, since she can't make up her mind. He then makes a suggestion on his own part that she falls in with her wishes she doesn't jump at it. She knows the power of men and that that would be her best bet. She thinks at first it is a sacrifice, and surrenders a part of her own will to his own way. Meanwhile she only smiles complacently at his blindness and scores a victory in her side.

OPENS THURSDAY.

THE DOORS OF HOTEL LATHAM WILL SWING OPEN THIS WEEK.

Formally Starts With a Grand Banquet Thursday Evening and a Fashionable Hotel Friday Night—Great Preparations Being Made for Both Events.

The long expected day has arrived, and the formal opening of the magnificent new Hotel Latham is at hand.
The opening banquet will be held Thursday night Jan. 2, and on the following evening, Friday Jan. 4, the young people will celebrate with a grand ball under the auspices of the German Club. To each of these entertainments about 400 invitations have been issued. Half of these were sent to neighboring towns, earnestly to stockholders and each director invited ten of his friends. This left only about sixty for general distribution and as a consequence only a limited number of citizens have been invited.
By sending invitations to different parties for the two entertainments they have been more widely distributed and more people are numbered among the fortunate ones.

The new hotel will be in thorough order for the important events and those who attend will be well opportunity to see the finest hotel in the South. This word is used advisedly, for there is nothing finer south of the Ohio river. This feature will, however, be made the subject of a separate article in the next issue of the KENTUCKIAN. Mr. Latham wants those at a distance who have been invited to understand that their presence is earnestly desired. Many local friends of the hotel have been left in order that visitors may have an opportunity to attend the opening and it is to be hoped that all who have been invited will accept the invitation.

GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY.

Thrifty Traditions of the British Government Curiously Revealed.

A paragraph in the "Life of Gen. Sir Rope Grank," who did great service for England as a military commander in India and in China, throws a curious side-light upon some of the governments of the British government.

After Gen. Grank's return from China to England, he received at the hand of the queen at Buckingham palace the Grand Cross of the Bath. He was proud of his decoration, but his biographer adds that such honors are not without expense to the receiver.

He finds among Sir Rope's papers a bill "by Albert Woods, Lancaster Herald," calling upon Sir Rope Grant to send back the insignia of his former order, K. C. B.—Knight Commander of the Bath—for the use of his majesty's government.

It is a good old rule, for governments as for men: "Take care of the pennies, and the pounds will take care of themselves."

A Dangerous Neighbor.

An amiable neighbor of Wyoming was casting her first vote, and woman-like, she was making a mess of it. She focled around with her hands on her hips, and her feet on the ground, only was attending to her case was in the last stages of patience. "Madam," he said, when he could stand it no longer, "I beg your pardon, but do you shoot the way you vote?" She had learned this famous expression among her first lessons in politics and prided herself on her knowledge. "Indeed, I do, sir," she replied, drawing herself up proudly.
"Then, madam," inquired the clerk with great interest, will you be kind enough not to begin shooting until I can get out of the state?"

Decided to Death.

Partridges and quail will generally when recently caught by a high wind, and their wings and drop the feathers in the direction, only using their wings to check the flight when near the earth. They frequently fall to their death in line, or the force of the wind is greater than they can endure, and they are dashed with trunks on the earth and are wound or killed. After a recent gale, many dead and wounded birds of the land were found at different stations along the Atlantic shore.

Chemistry, while it is in infancy, is already showing the possibilities of chemistry, her compounds are very readily produced and possibilities are all many other food stuffs are. A new process claims to produce a new kind of food, and the cost of it is very low. It is always a mystery, and a new and becomes important, and when a concentrated food is placed on the table, there will not be wasting fireless grains to study out the why and wherefore of chemical theories and furnish the nutrients required.

PAT NOLAN'S TALES.

The Old Steeplechase Jockey Spins Some Tales.

Old Pat Nolan, the celebrated steeplechase jockey, acquired a considerable fortune in the gale days of the sport between the flags, and having laid up treasures enough for his wants in this world, proceeded to build a house at Steeplechase Bay, says the Philadelphia Press. While it was in the course of construction a countryman came along and, after regarding it with interest, said:

"Ayeh, Patey, it's mink's the toime, Patey, ye wint over the water jump to get the money to build that house."
"Ayeh," responded Pat, knowingly, "as it's mink's the toime, Mink, O! didn't go over the water jump to get the money to build that house."

Jack Bachelor at one time owned the celebrated mare Princess. He was robbed going down to the track one evening and couldn't think of any easier way to get his money back than to run a race with her. He was that she was eligible for on the next day's programme. It looked like butchery, but Jack did it. One of the races was a stake event. He started Princess and won, and immediately after sent her to the post in a purse race, which she also captured with ease. "A man has got to get even some way," said Jack, "and I guess I got there."

Uncle Bob, the famous old colored retainer at the Belle Meade farm, is a constant in his work. On one occasion President and Mrs. Cleveland paid a visit to Gen. Jackson and, of course, they inspected the famous negro. Bob had even seen him, and he had found that he was a real man. He was with much pride and dignity he exhibited the winner of the English derby.

"What a beautiful horse, and how proud he looks!" exclaimed the lady of the white house.

"Let's see he knows who's lookin' at him," Bob responded.

Bob, removing his battered chapeau and bowing like a courtier.

SHE SIZES THE PEOPLE UP.

A Fruit Seller Tells Why the Sometimes Late Excursionists Arrive in the West.

While waiting for a cross-town car to the ferry the other day, said a lady according to a Chicago paper, I saw well-dressed women stop and look at stand on the corner and ask the woman in charge the price of quinces. I did not hear the response, but heard the lady's exclamation as she flounced away.

"Oh, you are exorbitant!"

Two Italian laborers stopped to price the tempting-looking fruit.

"Fifty cents apiece for quinces," said the fruit seller, and the astonished men passed on almost at a run, talking excitedly together in their native tongue and evidently feeling that they had barely escaped serious financial peril.

Reasons to learn the reason for her high valuations I timidly advanced in my turn and inquired the price of quinces. Her terms, courteously given, were ten cents apiece. "Excuse me," I asked why she had named so high a price to the person who had come before me.

"I have been selling fruit at this stand for ten years and I'm used to it," she smiled wisely, and I ought to be something of a judge of people by this time.

The lady who said did not mean to buy, she only wanted to know the price. I stood a pale statue or counter without stopping to price everything on it, and I was pleased to have her think me exorbitant on the first question. As for the Italians they thought the quinces new kind of fruit that they might buy and eat like an apple, so it was useless to waste time in telling them, and I gave them a figure that nearly caused them to fall down. Now, with you the case is different. You came to me fairly for information about something that they were used to, and I am very glad to give. Behind fruit stands, as we are in bigger concerns, we get to know how to size up the people, and to treat them accordingly.

HE RIDES IN HIS CARRIAGE.

The Young Man Who Saw a Chance to Get Ahead in the World.

A few days ago a young man opened up a lucky chance to a young man who was eating out a poor and unpleasant existence on a scrubby farm in the backwoods of Kentucky. He had a poor bit of a horse, and his only own was the Lewiston (Mo.) Journal. He was remote from neighbors, and so far from a market for his produce, he was left to rumble down for want of lumber to repair them. In this state of things the Canadian Pacific railway was about to build a line around the mountain side of his valley, and hundreds of Italians and other laborers were put to work. It required years to build this part of the road, and the young man, seeing the weather. The humble farmer at chance. He went to the settlement and secured a supply of clothing and food. He was very glad to and soon rose to the dignity of a goods of his own. He does not the backwoods any more, for he as the road was built, he had departed he sold his scrubby farm, and bought one of the best farms in Pennsylvania, paying for it, and now he is a wealthy man in his carriage, while his late the best schools and a comfortable case is one of these who are now and now he is a wealthy man of Fortune, even if he is a unexpected place.

Planting the Standard

All hail Columbus! Behold the great navigator as he lands. The perils of the deep are past. The clouds of fear have vanished. The night of gloom has ended. In the heavens the sun of success shines resplendent. Morning has dawned.

Impetuously the banner of haughty Spain greets the daylight. Upon its fluttering folds are inscribed the destinies of a new world. Its gleaming surface marks a long advance in the evolution of the human race. It tells a story of prophecy unapproached, of development unrecorded time. It crowns with triumph the efforts of genius.

The World's Fair contained no finer statue of the great discoverer than this colossal figure. It commanded from its pedestal the eastern entrance to the Administration building. The majesty of its dimensions, the vigor and aggressiveness of its expression and the artistic finish of its composition made it admired as a genuine sculptural triumph.

Another Standard Proudly Displayed at the Fair was that of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Standard of Excellence for Forty Years.

It was the standard of unequalled strength, perfect purity and wholesome results. The award to Dr. Price's of highest honors at the Fair furnishes conclusive evidence of its superiority over all other baking powders.

A Happy New Year to all.

Mrs. Cleveland has ceased to g'out, but Grover's gout is still worrying him.

Gladstone, England's "Grand Old Man," celebrated his 85th birthday Dec. 29.

What better resolution for to-day than a determination to take the KENTUCKIAN during 1895?

Mrs. Cleveland has given notice that she can't except any invitations to society events until further notice.

It was an old time Christmas after all, with snow and sleet and jingling sleigh bells and the mercury down to zero.

The amended Carlisle currency bill will be voted on Jan. 8, and Speaker Crisp says it will pass the House.

The last week of 1894 will be remembered as one in which there were no cases of sunstroke in Hopkinsville.

The Republicans are figuring it out that when they have carried Kentucky this year and again next year they will have carried it twice.

Two hundred populists from all parts of the country held a meeting in St. Louis last week and issued an address to the public and adopted a string of resolutions.

The numerous Hopkinsville friends of Channarajendra Wadur Bahadur the Maharaja of Mysore, will be pained to learn that he is dead. Diphtheria is given as the cause of his death, but a more probable theory is that he was choked to death in an effort to pronounce his own name.

With the assistance of a hangman at Deadwood, S. D., Friday, Two Stripes, a Sioux Indian murderer, had his name changed to One Strip.

It is calculated to hack a lecturer to have his box receipts attached, but Willie should have been on his guard. This is not the first time he has been hacked by an attachment in Cincinnati.

To the long list of distinguished dead for 1894 must be added the name of Ex-Senator Jas. G. Fair, who died at San Francisco Dec. 29, leaving a fortune of $40,000,000. He was a native of Ireland and represented Nevada in the senate from 1881 to 1887 as a Democrat. He leaves one son and three daughters to inherit his immense wealth.

It is reported from Washington that First Assistant Postmaster Frank H. Jones is to marry Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris. Mrs. Sartoris is probably thoroughly satisfied with her experience with a foreign husband and is willing this time to give a chance to one of her own countrymen, bearing a name much less high-sounding than that of the worthless English dude she married some fifteen years ago, while her father was in the White House.

A Helpless Invalid

Kidney and Liver Trouble and Nervous Debility

16 Years of Suffering Ended by Taking Hood's.

"G. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"The effects of Hood's Sarsaparilla in my case have been truly marvelous. It has surpassed any other medicine I have ever taken. For 16 years I was troubled with torpid liver, kidney trouble and nervous debility, and was a helpless invalid."

I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for three months and I feel that I am cured. I feel better now than I have for sixteen years. I thank God first for my health, and G. I. Hood & Co. second, for Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have recommended it to all my neighbors and several of them are using Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results. I am 35 years old and feel better than I did at 40. Mrs. F. WARD, Newhall, Tenn.

Maj. L. P. Gross, the restaurant man in the Kentucky building at the World's Fair last year, who sued the commissioners for $5,000, alleging a violation of his contract, has lost his suit. Chancellor Edwards, at Louisville, has thrown the case out of court.

Mr. John Pickford has been appointed agent for the L. & N. at Casky and has taken charge of the duties of the office. Although a young man, he is old in the L. & N. service, having filled the place of agent for the company at Empire for several years and also for some time at Providence.

Last week's blizzard extended far into the South and Florida got the coldest wave on record. The mercury stood at 14 at Jacksonville and 18 as low as Tampa. Great damage to the orange crop, now about half gathered, is reported. As far down as Tennessee, the thermometer reached the zero point. It was bitter cold all over the country, and the sudden drop came as a complete surprise to those who were predicting a very mild winter.

Mr. Bailey Waller has purchased the interest of his partner, Mr. Collins, and has moved his stock of furniture into his new quarters in the old Baptist church building, recently purchased by him and remodeled especially for his occupancy. There is a decided shifting of business to the rapidly improving squares south of Ninth street, and Mr. Waller's new stand, on the corner of Main and Eleventh streets, while somewhat on the frontier, is destined to be a popular business location. The church building has been remodeled and fitted up into a three-story business house, conveniently arranged and commodious and well lighted. We congratulate Mr. Waller upon his occupancy of his own building and predict for him a greatly increased measure of prosperity during the good year of 1895.

Miss Katie McGowan, of Bowling Green, is visiting Miss Marie Tyler.

D. Howard Smith, Jr., son of the former Auditor, dropped dead of heart disease just after taking a bath at Louisville.

BURIALS IN ANCIENT JAPAN.

Fracture of the Old Times Which Has Been Discontinued.

Prior to the year 646 A. D. the Japanese had one of the most horrible burial customs that can be imagined—that of burying the immediate friends and retainers of a prince or other person of note in a standing position around the prince's grave, and leaving them in the earth up to their necks to perish of thirst and hunger, says the St. Louis Republic. The custom cannot be said to have been general as late as the date given, for the Japanese records prove that in the time of the Emperor Suinin (97-30 B. C.) the burial rites of royal personages were so modified as to partially abolish former cruelties. Specimens of a young brother of Suinin, who died and had his retinue buried standing around his grave, the old record says: "For many days they did not, but wept and cried aloud. At last they died. Dugs and crows assembled and ate off their heads. The emperor's compassion was aroused and he desired to change the manner of burial. When the emperor died soon after the suicide inquiry of his officers if something in the way of a change could not be suggested, and one proposed to make clay figures of men and bury them as substitutes."

That this did not entirely do away with the former custom is proved by an edict issued in the year 646 A. D. (the date given first above), which forbade the burial of living persons around the graves of noted persons and provided a penalty for further adherence to the awful rite.

TOOK THE OATH ABROAD.

William Rufus King, Who Was Running Race with Franklin Pierce.

William Rufus King (born April 6, 1786; died April 18, 1853) was vice president of the United States who never took the oath of office on foreign soil—something which can be said of no other executive officer elected by the people of this country. King was an invalid, says the St. Louis Republic, but his friends urged him to take second place on the ticket with Pierce in 1853. Both were elected, but Mr. King's health failed so rapidly that he was forced to go to Cuba early in 1853, some two and a half months before inauguration day. Not having returned to the United States by March 4, congress passed a special act authorizing the United States consul at Matanzas, Cuba, to swear him in as vice president at about the hour when Pierce was taking the oath of office at Washington. This arrangement was carried out to a dot, and on the day expected, at a plantation on one of the highest hills of Matanzas, Mr. King was made vice president of the United States and the solemn "Vay vel con Dios" (God will be with you) of the creoles who had assembled to witness the unique spectacle. Vice President King returned to his home at Savannah, Ga., arriving at that place on April 17, 1853, and died on the following day. His remains were laid to rest on a plantation known as "Pine Hill."

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
